FLYER

Objective: Information on solar energy applications, including solar electricity generation, solar water heating, solar ventilation, and solar lighting, was one of the seminar's primary objectives. To talk about how, as a sustainable energy source, solar energy plays a significant part in lowering greenhouse gas emissions and preventing climate change, both of which are essential for safeguarding ecosystems, wildlife, and people. To be informed about the employment opportunities in the solar business, which include positions in manufacturing, construction, science, engineering, and installation.
